

NOVA.AI CODE OF CONDUCT

Human Resources & Legal

Document Code: NV-HR-004 | Version: 1.3 | Effective Date: 01 April 2026

1. Purpose

This Code of Conduct sets out the standards of professional and ethical behaviour expected of every Nova.ai employee, contractor, and intern. It applies at all Nova.ai offices, client sites, company events, and in any digital communication conducted on behalf of the Company.

2. Professional Behaviour

- Treat colleagues, customers, and partners with courtesy and respect, regardless of role, seniority, or background.
- Communicate directly and constructively; raise disagreements through appropriate channels rather than through gossip or public criticism.
- Be reachable and responsive during your agreed working hours, and set clear expectations when unavailable.

3. Anti-Harassment & Anti-Discrimination

Nova.ai maintains zero tolerance for harassment, discrimination, or retaliation based on gender, religion, caste, disability, sexual orientation, or any other protected characteristic under applicable law. Complaints are handled confidentially by the Internal Committee (IC) constituted under the POSH Act, 2013, with a target resolution timeline of 90 days. Retaliation against a complainant or witness is itself treated as a separate, serious violation.

4. Confidentiality & Data Protection

Employees must safeguard confidential company and customer information at all times, both during and after employment. Confidential and Restricted data (per the Data Classification Policy) must never be shared externally, stored on personal devices, or entered into unapproved AI tools.

5. Conflicts of Interest

Employees must promptly disclose to HR any actual or potential conflict of interest, including outside employment, financial interest in a vendor or competitor, or a close personal relationship with a direct report or someone in their reporting line.

6. Gifts, Bribery & Anti-Corruption

Employees must not offer, give, solicit, or accept any bribe, kickback, or improper payment in connection with Company business. Gifts from vendors or customers exceeding ₹2,500 in value must be declined or, where declining would be impolitic, disclosed and surrendered to HR.

7. Use of Company Assets & Systems

Company equipment, software licenses, and systems are provided for business use. Incidental personal use is permitted provided it does not violate law, incur cost to the Company, or interfere with work responsibilities, in line with the Asset Management Policy.

8. Social Media & External Communication

Employees speaking publicly or posting on social media about Nova.ai, its products, or its customers must clearly distinguish personal opinions from official Company positions, and must not disclose confidential information. Public representation of the Company requires prior sign-off per the Meeting & Communication Standards.

Reporting a Concern

Report suspected violations of this Code to your manager, HR (via the HR Portal), the Internal Committee (for harassment matters), or security@nova.ai (for data/security matters). Reports made in good faith are protected from retaliation, even if the underlying concern is not ultimately substantiated.

9. Disciplinary Process

Violations of this Code are addressed through a graded disciplinary process — verbal warning, written warning, final written warning, and separation — proportionate to severity and recurrence. Gross misconduct (fraud, harassment, data theft, bribery) may result in immediate termination without proceeding through the graded steps.

10. Acknowledgement

All employees are required to formally acknowledge this Code of Conduct through the HR Portal within 15 days of joining and following any material update.

This is a synthetically generated sample policy document created for demonstration and RAG-project portfolio purposes. It does not represent an actual company policy.